The Kildonan United Church website has been given something of a makeover. It may look the same, but dig deeper. Now, you will find up to date information concerning upcoming events, photographs chronicling life in the Church, information about the Minister, Chair of Council and Youth Leader, and previous worship services. Mark also posts weekly, and occasionally more than weekly, blogs which are designed to provoke thought and conversation on topics including youth in Church, the weekly lectionary readings, the use of technology in the Church, and what it means to be a community Church. If you have not had a look at the website recently, please do so. It is packed with information and articles of interest, and it is another way to help the congregation stay informed and connected.
